Bioinformatics and Computational Biology Solutions Using R and Bioconductor (Statistics for Biology and Health)

Full four-color book.

Some of the editors created the Bioconductor project and Robert Gentleman is one of the two originators of R.

All methods are illustrated with publicly available data, and a major section of the book is devoted to fully worked case studies.

Code underlying all of the computations that are shown is made available on a companion website, and readers can reproduce every number, figure, and table on their own computers.
